

Following previous successful publications by PACS, a new booklet is out in 2011, based on an attachment perspective.

Contents include:

- Important underlying forms of behaviour
- Common difficulties in daily living
- Case studies
- Useful things for carers to remember
- Getting help

Go Away, People!

What is PACS?

PACS (Post Adoption Central Support) is a small charitable organisation in Central Scotland which receives a grant from Clackmannan, Falkirk and Stirling Councils. It offers a range of post placement support and services to adoptive families and permanent foster carers.

PACS has previously published:

- » Adoption, Attachment Issues and Your School (Leaflet 2003)
- » Stop Wasting My Time - Case studies of pupils with attachment issues in schools, with special reference to looked after and adopted children (Booklet 2005)

Dedication

This booklet is dedicated to all the children and young people who talk the language of broken attachment but who are still not being heard. It is our hope that more of them will receive the understanding they need and deserve because of what is written here.

Encounters in daily living with looked after and adopted children and young people with attachment issues
